TEDxHHL with 3M and IBM in Leipzig/Germany on October 14, 2016

For the second time, students of HHL Leipzig Graduate School of Management organize the internationally known and popular event format TEDx. On October 14, 2016, under the motto "Beyond the Ordinary?•", speakers talk about their field of expertise and share their newest and path-breaking ideas. For all of you who can't wait to be part of this event: it will again take place at WERK 2 - Kulturfabrik Leipzig. And for everyone else: this is a warm invitation to join us for this unique experience! This year, speakers like Dr. Andy Ouderkirk from 3M, Andreas Schneider from IBM, neuroscientist Dr. Henning Beck, and Dr. Marc Schumacher from LIGANOVA will inspire us. Let's go beyond the ordinary! <http://www.tedxhhl.de>

With incredible speakers from various fields of science, art, technology and business we will present an experience in accordance with the official TED claim: "Ideas worth spreading". The TED foundation provides general guidance for the TEDx program, but individual TEDx events, such as TEDxHHL, are self-organized. All speeches during the conference will be filmed and posted for free on the TED website and the TEDx -YouTube-Channel. For further information and impressions from the last year, please refer to our Homepage www.tedxhhl.de
